

MULTI-STATE PARTNERSHIP FOR SECURITY IN AGRICULTURE

presents

2010 Symposium on Food and Agriculture Security

SAVE THE DATE: OCTOBER 18-20, 2010

Dates: October 18-20, 2010

Location: Monona Terrace Convention Center, Madison, Wisconsin

Theme: Taking the "Target" off the Food and Agriculture Sector

Website: www.cfsph.iastate.edu/Meetings/sfas10.htm

As a critical infrastructure, the food and agriculture sector constitutes one-sixth of the U.S. gross domestic product (GDP) – over a trillion dollars a year. This symposium will highlight how federal, state and local government, together with industry, are working to reduce threats, minimize impacts, and more quickly recover from a food and agricultural security event.

Symposium Topics

- National and international threats – latest news
- Regional state-level partnerships – accomplishments
- Food and Agriculture Government Coordinating Council – industry integration at the national level
- Food and Agriculture Criticality Assessment Tool (FAS-CAT) – lessons learned and next steps
- Continuity of business – keeping industry moving
- Agriculture and Homeland Security Integration – State Fusion Centers, Homeland Security Strategies

This symposium will offer networking and insights to further protect our Food and Agriculture Critical Infrastructure/Key Resources including:

- Communication
- Intelligence sharing
- Keeping products moving
- Relationship building and partnering

Other Anticipated Sponsors and Affiliates
